With Conference On-Demand your calls can happen at a moments notice. You decide when and where you have a conference call - no reservations necessary. Conference-On-Demand presents you with conference calling that has the flexibility of 24-hour availability, allowing you to meet the ever-changing demands of your business.

We know that business doesn't always run in an orderly fashion. And successful business people are those who can keep up with changes and quickly move in new directions. That's why we created CCI's On-Demand services.

With pre-established audio conferencing accounts for each user, you can create or participate in conferences with no advance notice, at any time, on any day. With CCI's On-Demand conferencing, you can establish separate conference accounts for each of your users as needed — anytime, anywhere.

Plan ahead or impromptu — On-Demand's the perfect solution On-Demand conferencing is perfect for team meetings, weekly sales meetings, weekly client calls, or other calls involving up to as many as 20 participants. Each authorized individual on your account will receive an On-Demand card with the permanent dial-in number and activation PIN codes for easy access to their conferences.

With your conferencing accounts in place, you're free to reschedule your conferences as your needs change and you won't incur any costs for rescheduling. You pay only for the time you use.

With your On-Demand service, you have a number of extra features included, such as:

- > 24/7 access to your call
- > Dial out to new participants
- > Lock Conference to any future participants
- > Attendance/Roll Call to hear who's on your call
- > Mute all participants' lines to block out background noise
- > One-touch operator assistance
- > Individual conference rooms for each person in your office
- > Detailed billing reports broken out by user
- > Activate Recording to start, pause and resume call recording from your touch-tone phone
